Bob Dickerson, DocPoint Solutions, vice president, said "Many organizations, companies, and government agencies already own Microsoft SharePoint on their servers, but they often lack the time and manpower needed to successfully set it up. Fortunately, we've found many SharePoint deployments can often be implemented and rolled out across a department or an entire organization quickly, so employees can start benefiting from a shared collaboration portal within a very short timeframe. Our status as an authorized provider of Microsoft SharePoint Deployment Planning Services enables us to work with many customers who have existing service assurance credits and want to begin realizing the value of their SharePoint investment as soon as possible. ”

DocPoint Solutions provides a full range of consultative services, support, and software for enterprise content management, with a specific focus on providing Microsoft SharePoint to organizations looking to expand employee collaboration efforts and increase information exchange across the enterprise.
